Premium as a Perk

It only takes one employee or one password to compromise an entire company. As companies like Sony and HBO will tell you, that one password could be a personal one, not work-related, that grants entry to attackers. Password behavior outside the office can have massive consequences for your business as well.

The 21st-century employee benefit

Help employees take good password practices home with them. Add LastPass Premium as a Perk to your Enterprise purchase and give your employees the modern benefit of online security with an upgraded personal LastPass account. Employees link their personal account to their work account to conveniently access both throughout the day, while admins can put policies and controls in place to ensure work credentials stay even after the employee goes.

Give employees the power to secure their digital life

Join 13 million users who already secure and control passwords in LastPass. With LastPass Premium, employees can make strong passwords the norm with a secure vault that's accessible from any device and browser so there's never an excuse to reuse a password or create a weak one. Also store digital copies of important documents and emergency access to their account in the event of a crisis.

Greater confidence in the password habits of your employees

You can't control your employees' personal passwords, but you can give them the tools to better manage them. LastPass Premium gives each employee a separate vault for their personal information to store all of their passwords, a password generator to create strong, unique new ones, and access on all of their devices.
